Your Personality Trait Scores

This Big Five assessment measures your scores on five major dimensions of personality: Openness, Conscientiousness, Extraversion, Agreeableness, and Neuroticism (sometimes abbreviated OCEAN). In this free report, you'll see a description of each of these five factors of personality, as well as a graph of your score on that measure.

Openness

Openness describes a person's tendency to think in abstract, complex ways. High scorers tend to be creative, adventurous, and intellectual. They enjoy playing with ideas and discovering novel experiences. Low scorers tend to be practical, conventional, and focused on the concrete. They tend to avoid the unknown and follow traditional ways.

Conscientiousness

Conscientiousness describes a person's ability to exercise self-discipline and control in order to pursue their goals. High scorers are organized and determined, and are able to forego immediate gratification for the sake of long-term achievement. Low scorers are impulsive and easily sidetracked.

Extraversion

Extraversion describes a person's inclination to seek stimulation from the outside world, especially in the form of attention from other people. Extraverts engage actively with others to earn friendship, admiration, power, status, excitement, and romance. Introverts, on the other hand, conserve their energy, and do not work as hard to earn these social rewards.

Agreeableness

Agreeableness describes a person's tendency to put others' needs ahead of their own, and to cooperate rather than compete with others. People who are high in Agreeableness experience a great deal of empathy and tend to get pleasure out of serving and taking care of others. They are usually trusting and forgiving. People who are low in Agreeableness tend to experience less empathy and put their own concerns ahead of others.

Neuroticism

Neuroticism describes a person's tendency to experience negative emotions, including fear, sadness, anxiety, guilt, and shame. While everyone experiences these emotions from time to time, some people are more prone to them than others. High Neuroticism scorers are more likely to react to a situation with fear, anger, sadness, and the like. Low Neuroticism scorers are more likely to brush off their misfortune and move on.

Your Traits in Action

Now we'll look at how your personality traits express themselves in all areas of life, from your daily routine to your relationships and your work life. Each section covers one key area and explains how your individual traits influence your experiences in this aspect of life.

WHAT DO YOU VALUE?

Your ideal world is a kind, equitable one, where people treat each other fairly and with compassion. You value justice and mercy in equal measure, believing that people should be forgiven when it is reasonable to do so. You do your best to make the world a better place, although you also work toward your own personal achievements. You want to distinguish yourself, but you do not want to step on any toes to do so.

You have a genuine love of ideas, and value originality, creativity, and imagination. It is important to you to have consistent opportunities to learn new things and improve your mind. You value intellectual challenge, depth of thought, and insight. Because of your interest in enlightenment and novel ideas, you place great value on artistic and cultural endeavors. You believe that the improvement of the mind is an important and worthy goal.

It was a very insightful and helpful report. I was constantly surprised on how accurate some of the analyses were. I took this test because I needed a direction in college. I still don't fully know what path I want, that would require more research and actual real life experiences, but this test assisted in narrowing down my choices so I'm grateful.

An open book about myself.

For the first time, it felt like someone understood me plain and simple without judgement.

A wonderful opportunity to clearly understand my personality traits and start focusing on nurturing this beautiful human being.

I will never feel wrong under this skin ever again.

Very insightful, I definitely agree with most of what was in the report but I do find a few things that I don't particularly think are correct; I think that's just due to my own chaotic self and being in one mood from one hour to the next. Over all, interesting read. :)

Scarily accurate for a 5-min personality test. This is much better than the MBTI test.
